

Education and Culture Studies Resources

- 2009 Survey in Japanese Language Education in the Midwest
 - List of all elementary, middle and high schools, colleges, and continuing education programs within our ten-state jurisdiction. Includes teacher contact information, the number of students enrolled in Japanese language classes, and website links. Records are from surveys conducted in 2009.
- Survey Report on Japanese Language Education Abroad 2012 [\[Japanese\]](#) [\[English\]](#)
 - Through the Japan Foundation, you can purchase the full report, summary (Japanese), summary (English), excerpt (Japanese), and excerpt (English) from this expansive survey that reports on the status of Japanese Language Education abroad. Excerpts from the Summary of Results in Japanese and English are available in PDF format online.
- Directory for Japanese Language Education Institutions
 - This directory allows users to browse institutions around the world that offer Japanese language instruction. All content on the website is in Japanese only.
- Outline of Japanese Language Education in the U.S.
 - This website is intended to provide a general overview of the environment and history of Japan language education in the U.S. It discusses major changes in the Japanese pedagogy system over time, syllabus guidelines, standardized tests, and more!
- JF LA office Japanese Language \(Grants, E-learning, Advocacy in US, etc\)
 - On this website, the Japan Foundation compiles information on Japanese language education, youth exchanges, Japanese language advocacy, job openings, resources, e-learning, and frequently asked questions for public access.
- Directory of Japanese Studies
 - Created by the University of Hawaii, this database displays the information collected from the Survey of Japan Specialists and Japanese Studies Institutions in North America in 2011-2012. You may browse or search for specific information under the four categories of Programs, Specialists, Libraries and Museums, and Doctoral Candidates.